A stylized yellow flower with five petals and a central sun-like face. The flower is composed of a central yellow circle with radiating lines, surrounded by five yellow petals. The entire flower is set against a white background.
